Project Defib

Having a defibrillator within reach can greatly increase survival rates.

Project Defib is a Red Cross initiative which enables every school, sporting club and not for profit organisation in Australia, access to a subsidised defibrillator to assist in reducing the number of fatalities resulting from Sudden Cardiac Arrest.

Sudden Cardiac Arrest

Every year around 30,000 Australians suffer from sudden cardiac arrest of which only 5% survive. Immediate access to a defibrillator and early CPR can increase survival rates if applied within minutes of a sudden cardiac arrest.

Red Cross and the Heart Foundation both acknowledge the advantage of having easy access to automated external defibrillators wherever large groups of people gather.

First Aid Training

Red Cross is committed to building safe, healthy and productive communities through the provision of first aid training, first aid kits, defibrillators and mental health preparedness.

Red Cross highly recommends that everyone is first aid trained and that anyone using a defibrillator has up to date CPR training to ensure the highest chance of survival.

To ensure you are up to date with the latest first aid information and techniques, it is important to renew your first aid certification every three years and CPR annually.

We offer refresher courses to keep you up to date and our most popular first aid training courses include:

- HLTAID003 Provide first aid
- HLTAID001 Provide cardiopulmonary resuscitation
- HLTAID004 Provide an emergency first aid response in an education and care setting.
